about setting aside their estate, or a portion of it, for charity purposes. This is our shared learning of all of our organizations become stronger."

"We’re elevating the Foundation’s work and share in setting annual goals” said O’Brien. “It is from our shared learning that all of our organizations become stronger.”

Now, O’Brien says its time to utilize that expertise and solidity to respond to new philanthropic trends that emerge in Taos and across the nation – exactly what establishing the Property Foundation to focus on a distinct, growing sector of charitable giving is all about. “We are here to partner”, O’Brien adds. “Charita-table gifts can come in any shape or size. We are honored to help sort through the details to assure that a gift, either today or tomorrow, lands where it means the most, both to the donor and to those in need.”
